On behalf of Dr. David Provenzano and the entire American Society of Regional Anesthesia and Pain Medicine (ASRA Pain Medicine) team, I am delighted to invite you to the 50th Annual Regional Anesthesiology and Acute Pain Medicine Meeting. This milestone event is filled with the latest advancements, cutting-edge research, and collaborative discussions in regional anesthesia and pain medicine, marking 2025 the Golden Jubilee of the ASRA Pain Medicine Spring Meeting. It offers a unique opportunity to interact with previous presidents of the society and leaders of our sister societies.

This historic meeting will be hosted from May 1-3, 2025, at the Rosen Shingle Creek Resort in Orlando, Florida. We assure you of an outstanding blend of education, enjoyment, and entertainment.

Highlighted by a diverse scientific program, attendees can anticipate sessions covering safety, efficacy, and innovations in regional anesthesia. Notable features include a special lecture on the impact of artificial intelligence in health care by Professor Anand Rao, plenary sessions on point-of-care ultrasound (POCUS) applications, and updates from leading regional anesthesia and pain medicine organizations.

Sessions will delve into precision and innovation in pain management, recent ASRA Pain Medicine guidelines, anesthesia safety, cutting-edge innovations, controversies, and top papers in the field. Sessions such as Problem-Based Learning Discussions (PBLDs), Ask the Experts Interactive Sessions, and hands-on workshops will further enhance attendees' knowledge and skills in a collaborative environment.

Join us for up to 40 PBLDs! Delve into a diverse range of topics, such as:

- GLP-1 Agonists and the Role of Gastric Ultrasound
- Harnessing Artificial Intelligence Tools for Professional Development
- Leveraging Social Media for Academic Career Advancement

These sessions are meticulously designed to enrich your knowledge, refine your skills, and foster professional growth in regional anesthesia and pain medicine.

Numerous "Ask the Experts" Interactive Sessions awaiting you include:

These workshops offer hands-on learning opportunities, from gastric scanning to ultrasound-guided cryo-neurolysis and peripheral nerve stimulation. Dive into focused POCUS sessions tailored for regional anesthesiologists and discover emerging techniques such as external oblique intercostal and pericapsular nerve group blocks.

Beyond the educational content, attendees can enjoy networking opportunities, complimentary events, and social programs, including receptions, luncheons, and a celebration to conclude the meeting.

The Rosen Shingle Creek offers a luxurious setting with top-notch facilities, including a full-service spa, multiple swimming pools, a fitness center, tennis courts, and nature trails. Its convenient location near Orlando International Airport and major attractions ensures accessibility for all attendees.
